The Public School Early Childhood Education initiative was formed in 1983 after revisions to West Virginia’s school code allowed local school boards to offer preschool programs for 3- and 4-year-olds. The state expanded preschool education in 2002 and set the goal of including all 4-year-olds in the state by the 2012-2013 school year. The state’s preschool initiative, now known as the West Virginia Universal Pre-K System, offers prekindergarten programs in all school districts statewide. The state and its 55 counties, which are working together to ensure a sufficient number of classrooms meet state quality standards, anticipate that an increase in classrooms will enable the state to meet its goal of universal, voluntary access on time. In working toward universal access, counties are required to share their plans for expanding preschool access with the state each year. However, in increasing access for 4-year-olds, access for younger students has decreased. Since July 2004, only 3-year-olds who have an Individualized Education Plan (IEP) can receive state funding for preschool.

Public schools receive funding for the West Virginia Universal Pre-K System directly, though these schools may subcontract with other agencies to provide services. Half of the programs are required to operate in collaborative settings with Head Start agencies, child care centers, and private prekindergarten centers as a means of facilitating expansion of the pre-K program. The state revised its funding calculations in the 2008-2009 school year, so full-time equivalency is now based on the hours of instruction for all children, regardless of location. As a result, more children are enrolled in full-day programs throughout the state. Programs may also use supplementary funding through federal Head Start, IDEA, and Title I and Title II.

Most programs participating in the West Virginia Universal Pre-K System use Creative Curriculum in their classrooms, and the state currently uses a web-based portfolio designed around Creative Curriculum. This portfolio allows teachers to track student progress and assessment outcomes as required by the West Virginia Early Learning Standards Framework. This program was evaluated for process quality in 2009.

In 2009, the West Virginia Board of Education made policy revisions to require meals, regardless of the hours of instruction, and to establish a process for phasing in a requirement for lead teachers in community partnerships to have a bachelor’s degree. In 2010, policy was revised to update the early learning standards and align them with kindergarten content standards and objectives as well as to address school readiness and assessment, with these policy revisions going into effect in the 2010-2011 program year.
