

Mission Statement

The National Institute for Early Education Research (NIEER) improves the learning and development of young children by producing and communicating knowledge that transforms policy and practice.

We collaborate with a network of local, state, national and international leaders to design, conduct and disseminate rigorous research, evaluation, and policy analysis.

NIEER also is focused on preparing the next generation of inspirational leaders and researchers in early education.